As we come to the end of our Dust to Dominion Series, we come to the end of Joshua's life. Joshua had taught Israel the principles of spiritual victory by word and deed, but he could not live victorious lives for them. They had to choose the side of victory. His challenge to Israel is a powerful challenge to us this day.

Quotable: The extra mile is never crowded.

"The Lord shall direct thy paths." First, by His Word... warning us of the byways of sin and making known the paths of righteousness and blessing. Second, by His Spirit: giving us strength to obey the precepts of God, causing us to wait patiently on the Lord for directions, enabling us to apply the rules of Holy Writ to the varied duties of our lives, bringing to our remembrance a word in due season. Third, by His providences: causing friends to fail us so that we are delivered from leaning upon the arm of flesh, thwarting our carnal plans so that we are preserved from shipwreck, shutting doors which it would not be good for us to enter, and opening doors before us which none can shut.
